

MHMR TARRANT

FORT WORTH , TEXAS

- Crafted nature themed play elements
- Engineered with durable materials that stand up to the elements
- Brightly colored animal sculptures appeal to children

Challenge:

The lovely team at MHMR of Tarrant County in Fort Worth, Texas wanted something that would enhance their outdoor space by providing a small oasis for children to have fun. They were planning to put in new benches and tables, and requested some pond themed play elements that were colorful and appropriate for all age groups.

Solution:

We crafted 5 mushroom steppers, a green turtle, ladybug climber and one green frog. With strict attention to detail and safety, these items were crafted with glass fiber reinforced polymer for durability. GFRP is environmentally safe and is made to withstand the test of time in many weather conditions. It can definitely withstand the rambunctious activities of excited children.

Result:

With the new play features, sitting on a colorful play pad, the children that visit the MHMR can enjoy playing in space where they can move, jump, and imagine.
