

Easter Island Moai Man

Easter Island Moai statues were first created many centuries ago to represent ancestors turned deity. They stood the statues facing the villages in order to keep watch. These statues still hold that value today. A lot of people like to add them as humorous features for golf courses, amusement parks and casinos. They make quite a presence and will definitely capture the attention of your patrons. Looking ready for a photo op, the Moai statues always sport a smile. The statues featured here come in different heights of 4 and 6 feet. Custom is our middle name, and we can make them larger or smaller to fit what you are looking for.
