

National Association of Elementary School Principals (NAESP)

NAESP began in 1921 and serves principals and other educational experts around the world. The organization provides support for principals and promotes community support as well. NAESP works to encourage principals throughout their careers by advocating awards and benefits. The end result is that these educational leaders are able to achieve more and improve education in their elementary and middle schools. These improvements benefit everyone from the students and their families to the entire community. NAESP works to improve public awareness of elementary and middle school education and to help people understand that these are the stepping stones to success later in life. With the high educational standards promoted by the organization, principals can work within their schools to boost the success rate of teachers and students alike.

Reaching School Goals through Support for Principals

The 4 Kids shares the same ideals as NAESP, helping to provide education leaders with the resources and programs to improve the health, education and overall wellbeing of their students and their families. Our vision is to ensure that every child has the opportunity to live a richer, more fulfilled life by equipping and encouraging those who serve them.
