

Polar Bear Mother and Cub

Mother polar bears are very protective of their young, but this Mother Polar Bear and Cub are resting peacefully and playfully. Children will be in awe when they see the tiny cub crawling on his mother's back. They'll want to join him, by climbing up too. At only 3 feet high, little ones will be able to climb on mother's back and pretend to be in the wild, sparking imaginative play. This play sculpture is made using a durable material that will last for many years to come, and can resist the harsh winters, just as the polar bears do. The 4 Kids endeavors to bring realistic creatures into innovative environments to exercise both the mind and body of our young people. Call us today to talk about animal sculptures for your project.
